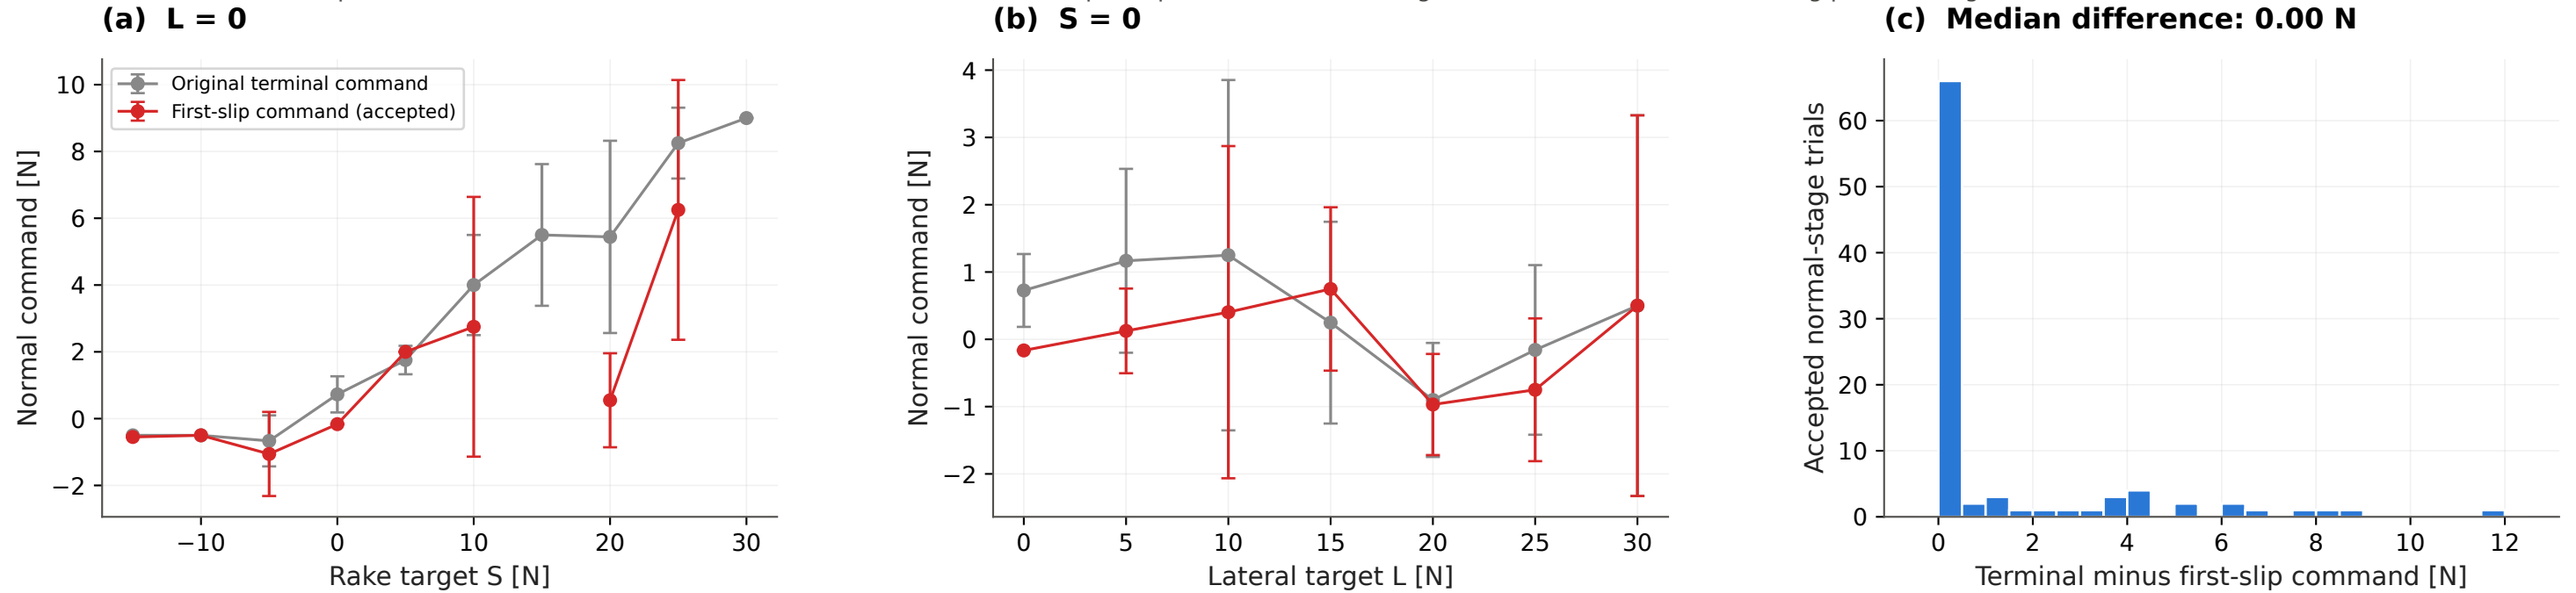
How first-event processing changes the normal-failure curve


Commands are compared with commands below. The main surface uses measured pre-slip force. All normal-stage fits are conditional on surviving prior loading.